

10 Things You Don't Say At A Job Interview

Sponsored by www.ifcpro.com

- I know my resume doesn't make much sense but I can assure you either does my life!
- So your what your telling me is that if I were to get one of my fingers cut off in that big machine over there, I would be able stay home and still receive my pay checks?
- So what is your company policy about having sex with the other employees... do you encourage it?
- It's a good thing I got this interview, the utilities got cut off and I haven't had a shower for almost three weeks.
- Say...you're pretty hot! Do the other female bosses look as good as you do.
- So what your saying, is that if I were to borrow some of the stores products, even for a week or two, you would consider that stealing?
- I would just ask that you don't call any of my references... or my last five employers!
- Does your company offer a drug treatment program, if I decide to start taking drugs.
- When you call any of my three references on my resume, you will get a switchboard. Just ask for "Solitary" and get one of the guards to drop a message.
- I realize it seems odd that I have had only one job lasting only three days in forty-one years, but honestly nothing really jumped out at me!

Tags: comedy, 10 things, job interview, ifcpro, ifcpro, just for laughs, funny, employment, Astrological Signs, Facial Recognition, Math Quiz, Guess A Country, Lottery Numbers, Career, Hangman, Dog Years, Astrological Signs, Overweight, Tic Tac Toe Game, Quadratic Equation Solver,